Spartan Chassis Announces New Executive Director of Operations

January 17, 2005

CHARLOTTE, Mich., Jan. 17 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- Spartan Chassis, a subsidiary of Spartan Motors, Inc. (Nasdaq: SPAR), today announced it has named Arthur Ickes as Executive Director of Operations at Spartan Chassis, Spartan Motors' Charlotte, Mich.-based subsidiary that designs, engineers and manufactures custom chassis for the recreational vehicle and fire truck markets.

"Arthur's leadership skills and extensive background in manufacturing will fuel our momentum to continually improve and progress in all areas of operations," said Richard Schalter, president of Spartan Chassis.

Arthur Ickes comes to Spartan Chassis with extensive experience as an executive in the manufacturing engineering, operations, purchasing, general management and lean manufacturing arenas. He has a successful track record of improving profitability, productivity, quality and customer satisfaction in positions throughout the Americas, Europe and Asia. Arthur has earned a master of science in management from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Kettering University.

Prior to joining Spartan Chassis, Arthur was the director of launch management for Plastech Engineered Products, Inc., a manufacturer of precision injection molded components for the automotive industry. Earlier in his career, Arthur worked for Delphi Corporation and was promoted to a number of manufacturing managerial positions during his 15-year tenure. As the manufacturing manager at Delphi, he was instrumental in turning a substantial loss into a healthy profit in two and a half years by installing lean manufacturing techniques.
