Spartan Motors' Royal Truck Body brings Western United States' Leading Service Truck Bodies to 2020 Work Truck Show

March 2, 2020

CHARLOTTE, Mich., March 2, 2020 /PRNewswire/ -- Royal Truck Body® ("Royal"), a go-to-market brand of Spartan Motors, Inc. (NASDAQ: SPAR), reporting under the Spartan Chassis and Vehicles ("Spartan Specialty Vehicles") business unit, will display at The Work Truck Show (NTEA) in Indianapolis from March 3 to 6, for the first time in nearly two decades.

The most recent of the Company's acquisitions, Royal Truck Body, joined the Spartan Motors family under the Spartan Specialty Vehicles segment in September of 2019 and brings heavy-duty service truck bodies with more standard features than the competition to the organization's portfolio. Built in a myriad of vocation-centric configurations, Royal Truck Bodies are today constructed of A60 galvanized steel and feature easy-to-access secure compartments and spaces built to last and enhance how tradespeople work. Royal Truck Bodies fit seamlessly onto new and reconditioned OEM truck chassis, including Ford, GM, and Ram.

"We are excited to showcase the Royal Truck Body lineup at this year's Work Truck Show as part of Spartan Motors' full commercial, fleet, and specialty vehicles product portfolio," said Steve Guillaume, President of Spartan Specialty Vehicles. "Royal's product lineup offers tradespeople high-performing, long-lasting truck bodies with more standard features than the competition. It's our attention to detail, vocation-centric body offerings, and emphasis on after-sale service and support that position us well for future growth in this space."

On display in the Royal Truck Body booth is an 8' service truck body, featuring heavy-duty double-walled compartments, ample storage space, stainless steel tailgate guards, a key coded locking tailgate, and Royal's Fortress 5-Point Lock System for unmatched jobsite/lot security and protection – all standard options and included in the body's base price.

Also showcased in the booth at The Work Truck Show is the 11' severe duty Royal Truck Body, a bolstered version of the 8' body. The severe duty body comes standard with A60 galvanized steel body construction, a 12-gauge diamond plate steel floor, and 10-gauge cross members. Additionally, it is structurally reinforced—from front to rear—to accommodate the addition of specialized equipment. The truck body also comes standard with an extended-life reinforced poly bed liner and a heavy-duty Class III recessed rear bumper to accommodate heavy workloads and ensure performance in extreme conditions. The severe duty body features taller compartment heights and gas shocks for vertical doors to provide additional cargo space and easy access for large equipment and tools. All compartment doors include the Royal Fortress 5-Point Lock System for additional security, featuring "One-key" universal compartment and vehicle access as a standard feature. The severe duty body on display in the booth also features Royal's patented modular ladder rack.

Royal Truck Body designs, manufactures, and assembles a full product line of truck body options in 8', 9', and 11' lengths, for vocations including:

- Contractors
